I have a solid background in software development in multiple languages, focusing on the creation of efficient and scalable solutions. Additionally, I have acquired knowledge in database administration and the application of agile methodologies for managing technological projects. My emphasis on continuous improvement drives innovation in all aspects, and I am always ready to take on new challenges and learn from them. My goal is to apply my knowledge and skills in the real world, addressing technological challenges and collaborating on innovative projects. I am committed to continuous learning, the success of teams, and organizations in the field of technology.
